A vibrant & world-class region & lifestyle

Southern Arizona is known for its incredible outdoor adventures, towering saguaros, arguably the best Mexican food in the country, and vibrant arts community, events, and festivals. It's also home to a leading public research institution – the University of Arizona.

The population of the greater Tucson area is just over a half a million people. While, relatively speaking, it feels like a small city, it has an abundance of things to do, places to explore, and services to support a world-class lifestyle.

Why we love our community association.

The Gladden Farms Community Association assures that the community looks great by maintaining amenities, common areas, greenspaces, infrastructure, and more. It also enforces community guidelines that protect the value of your home. The association even monitors local government decisions and lobbies for measures that are in the best interest of Gladden Farms.

Perhaps best of all, our community association hosts 60+ all-ages events a year, including seasonal festivals, block parties, and family outings. Yes, Bella the Bunny makes an appearance every year at the Egg-streme Easter event and Santa and Mrs. Claus are always in attendance at December's Winter Wonderland. These gatherings are fun and a great way to meet your neighbors. The association is also active online, hosting interactive social media events like photo contests that showcase our community's talent.

A strong and resilient economy

Our regional economy is thriving. Arizona recently ranked #3 for job growth in the country, with Pima County a key contributor to this success. Tucson is not only home to the top-ranking University of Arizona but is also considered one of the country's best cities for startups. Greater Tucson has seen one of the nation's largest increases in high-paying jobs, reflecting Southern Arizona's continuing appeal for talent and investment.

Key growth industries.

The key growth industries in greater Tucson and Southern Arizona are aerospace and defense, bioscience and diagnostics, transportation and logistics, clean energy and renewable technology, and back office services.

Top employers.

Our top employers include the University of Arizona, Raytheon Missile Systems, Roche Tissue Diagnostics, the Port of Tucson, Caterpillar Surface Mining & Technology, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Town of Marana, Marana Unified School District, Tucson Unified School District, the State of Arizona, University of Arizona Health Network, Freeport-McMoRan Copper and Gold, and Citi Financial.

Economic engine.

Organizations like The Chamber of Southern Arizona champion mega-regional issues that impact the economy, job creation, and quality of life throughout Southern Arizona. Local First Arizona, along with local chambers of commerce, helps maintain the vibrancy of local, small businesses. And the Town of Marana focuses on careful, forward-thinking planning, while protecting a low-tax environment beneficial to business owners and residents.

Quality of life.

When it comes to quality of life, our region has it in spades. We're surrounded by five mountain ranges, lush desert landscapes and enjoy mild winters, stunning sunsets, year-round outdoor recreation, and world-class eateries and events. In fact, Tucson was ranked one of the greatest places in the world by Time in 2023.

Come see all that Gladden Farms has to offer – brand new, eco-smart homes crafted by national homebuilders, parks around every corner, two exceptional schools, miles of paved trails for walking and biking, and so much more – just minutes from I-10, downtown Tucson, University of Arizona, major employers, shopping, restaurants, and recreation.
